Tender Justice

There seems to be no doubt that they were wellintentioned, that they wished to continue reforming the role of the church and to improve the lot of the Indians, but they were from another tradition and out of their depth. As Pablo Echaurren has written in his affectionate description of the miraculous encounter between the gastronome and the artist: Giuliano Delia Casa's painting is anti-conceptual, free-flowing, and instinctive; the artist himself is a force of nature, and, at the same time, the cultural product of his region, of the tradition dating back to a time when Pellegrino Artusi's instructions were carried out religiously and no attention would have been paid to the abstruse officiants and devotees of nouvelle cuisine In the same way that no second thoughts, no dawdling, no hesitation are allowed in the creation of a
