A sermon, delivered before His Excellency Caleb Strong, esq., governor, the honorable the Council, Senate and House of representatives of the commonwealth ... 26, 1802: Being the day of general election

Hereward would no doubt have been ennobled had he not excited the jealousy of Earl Godwin's sons, and forfeited the goodwill of the ascetic and narrow-minded King, by some boyish escapade savouring more of Saxon roughness than Norman polish, for which the lad was expatriated ; and after a short tour in Northumbria, Cornwall, and Ireland, he settled in Ghent or other towns in the Low Countries until His career in Flanders will be discussed. Most of his encounters with the civilized world have been disappointing thus far, but this one features several interesting antagonists, a cool monster, an awesome opening, and a great ending.
